The appellant, Craig Horning of Integrity Pools and Spas requested the application be reviewed by the UCC Board of Appeals without a public meeting. Four (4) members of the UCC Board of Appeals were present at the meeting and all four (4) members voted on the appeal. In summary, Craig Horning requested consideration that the existing windows that became part of the pool barrier at 1110 Oakmont Drive be considered as meeting the intent of the code (equivalent means of construction) because all of the noted windows have locking mechanisms that are at least 54” above the interior finished floor level. Per the recently adopted 2015 ISPSC Code Section 305.4, operable windows that are part of a pool barrier are to be equipped with windows alarms that conform to UL 2017. After deliberation by the board, Keith Good motioned to approve the appeal. Steve Kelly seconded the motion to approve the appeal. The Board then voted unanimously (4 to 0) to approve the variance request.
